...TION, in physics, the passing of energy from one place to another. In the social sciences, the study of the human mind and behavior, and the objects in the environment, as they are perceived by the senses, and the manner in which they are interpreted by the mind. A study of the art requires a knowledge of form, color, and light and shade. The study of the animate and inanimate of nature, and the objects in the environment, as they are perceived by the senses, and the manner in which they are interpreted by the mind.
